

Rudolph Hess Attempted To End Life; Is Found "Sane"

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Nuernberg, Nov. 28 (AP) — Franz von Papen and Arthur Seyss-Inquart—two of the top Nazi leaders on trial before an international military tribunal—were described by American prosecutors today as leaders of the Fifth Column which paved the way for Hitler's invasion of Austria in 1938.

While the Nazi plot to seize Austria was unveiled, the four-power court announced medical examiners had found that Rudolf Hess, Hitler's former No. 2 deputy, was "not insane" at present. Arguments on Hess' pleas to be released from trial on grounds of amnesia were set for Friday.

American prosecutors met their first setback of the trial when the court ruled against their move to introduce an affidavit from Kurt Schuschnigg, deposed as chancellor and jailed for seven years by Hitler, in which he told of Nazi plotting against Austria. The tribunal upheld a defense contention that Schuschnigg should testify personally instead of by affidavit.

Attempted Suicide
In a mass of government documents, letters and affidavits, the prosecution showed that Von Papen known as Germany's wildest diplomat, was sent by Hitler as minister to Austria in 1934 to bring, in the diplomat's own words, "slowly increasing pressure" against Germany's neighbor.

Seyss-Inquart, who succeeded Schuschnigg as chancellor in the coup just before the German invasion, was described by Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman as "the original Quisling."

Reporting on results of mental examinations, British, Russian and American psychiatrists agreed that Hess' loss of memory was self-induced and that he was, in the words of British doctors, "not insane at the present time in the strict sense of the word."

The British psychiatrists' report revealed that Hess had tried to commit suicide on several occasions since his sensational and mysterious flight to Scotland in May, 1941.

Declaring that Hess was not insane, the psychiatrists conceded that his loss of memory would "interfere with his ability to make his defense." Hess went on trial on war crimes charges last week with 19 other top Nazi leaders but has paid scant attention to proceedings, reading a novel much of the time and giggling occasionally.

"Exaggerates" Condition
Hess, the medical board reported, is suffering from "hysteria" and "in addition, there is conscious exaggeration of his loss of memory and a tendency to exploit it to protect himself against examination."

As today's session opened, the prosecution presented evidence from an American diplomat that the Nazis schemed from their earliest days of power to absorb Austria.

The charge that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and others of the 20 top Nazi leaders on trial openly spoke on annexing Austria to the Reich was made in an affidavit by George S. Messersmith, former U. S. minister to Austria and now ambassador to Mexico.

"From the beginning of the Nazi government, I was told by high and secondary government officials in Germany that incorporation of Austria into Germany was a political and economic necessity and that this incorporation was going to be accomplished by whatever means were necessary," Messersmith stated in his affidavit.

50 Persons Attend Father-Son Banquet

The annual father and son banquet of Trinity Reformed church was held Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the church social rooms with 50 present. A roast duck dinner was served by members of the Zwingli Circle.

The Rev. Justus Leismann, former organist at the church, Claude Little, overseas veteran, Walter Lane, navy photographer, now with Life magazine, and Cpl. Kenneth Lieb, in charge of the army recruiting office in Gettysburg, were the speakers.

Harry D. Ridinger Accepts New Post

Harry D. Ridinger, West Middle street, decorated veteran of European duty with a Seventh Army artillery unit on the Western Front, has accepted a position as stock clerk at the Gettysburg Ice and Storage company plant, it was announced today by the manager, C. Arthur Brame.

When Ridinger entered the service, he was deputy clerk of the courts of Adams county.

JOINS MARINE CORPS

Joseph C. Galbraith, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Galbraith, 126 West Middle street, has enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps and on Monday went to Parris Island, N. C., to begin training. An older brother, Lloyd, Jr., is in the Navy and has served in the Mediterranean and South Pacific theaters.

DIRECTORS OF LIBRARY UNIT ARE SELECTED

Directors were elected, changes in the constitution and by-laws approved and reports of officers and the librarian received Monday evening at the annual meeting of the Adams County Free Library association at the court house. Because of the weather and other meetings, attendance was relatively small.

The meeting was opened by O. H. Benson, president of the association with an appeal for cooperation in the library work. "There is danger in any effort such as this that too many people will leave the work to one or two, or to a few," he said.

Directors elected for terms to expire in 1948 were: Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, Gettysburg; the Rev. Cyril J. Allwein, McSherrytown; Howard Y. Musselman, Orrtanna and Fairfield; term to expire in 1947, the Rev. Nevin R. Prantz, Buchanan Valley, Arendtsville area; 1946, Mrs. J. R. Riden, Littlestown; Anna Hull, East Berlin, and D. E. Winebrenner, New Oxford.

The three-year term of a representative from the York Springs area was left vacant, pending a recommendation from that community. The board of directors will fill the vacancy later.

Amendments Adopted

Article V. of the constitution was amended to provide that "after three consecutive absences from the monthly directors' meetings, a director's position may be declared vacant." Amendments to the by-laws provided, among other things, that the president shall appoint such committees as are necessary for carrying on the work of the association and the library; the board shall appoint all employees, including the librarian, and fix all salaries; the librarian shall be the executive officer of the board, and shall be held responsible to the board for the proper management of the library, for the preservation and care of its property, for the discipline and efficiency of service, approved by the board, and for the operation of the library under the financial conditions set forth in the annual budget.

The report of the treasurer showed receipts on hand October 31 of $3,703.90; expenditures of $721.05 and balance remaining of $2,982.85. The report was submitted by J. Willis Beidler, Biglerville, treasurer.

President Benson gave a report of the work of the association, its officers and committees, for the first year since its organization in November, 1944, and declared that while much of the "pioneering" work has been accomplished, years of important work lie ahead.

Leadership Needed

"Through your board of directors, officers and librarian, we hope to serve Adams county in such a way that our every contribution of time, energy and finances will be fully justified at all times," Mr. Benson said.

SEES BOOM IN REMODELING FOR ADAMS COUNTY

More than $1,597,000 is expected to be spent during the next five years by Adams county home owners on remodeling and repair work.

The year 1946 promises to inaugurate one of the greatest eras in American history for home repairs and modernization, according to estimates released by the Title Council of America. "Few developments will contribute more to employment and general prosperity in any community," according to R. E. Jordan, chairman of the Council's Residential Construction Committee.

Because of lack of materials and manpower during the war, many of the county's 10,648 dwelling units are in need of some kind of repair or remodeling work. Kitchen improvements and modernization of bathrooms, installation of showers and in some homes addition of a second bath top the nation's list of most wanted major improvements, Jordan said.

Paint And Roofs

Outside paint jobs are needed on more than 50 per cent of homes, and addition of rooms and construction of porches also rank high in remodeling plans, according to the report. New roofing and heating plants are required by many dwellings.

Home owners in Pennsylvania will spend an estimated $393,525,000 and those of the nation more than $5,500,000,000 for major repairs in the next five years, according to Jordan. Ample funds, at low interest charges, are available for such work through commercial banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions and mutual savings banks, he pointed out.

May Turn On Xmas Lights Saturday

Today's downpour of rain interrupted work of completing the installation of the Christmas lights in the business section, but the Metropolitan Edison company promised the power would be ready not later than Friday evening. Paul Kinsey said his company would have the transformer ready by that time at the latest.

The Chamber of Commerce refrained from making any definite announcement today as to whether the lights would be turned on Saturday evening. The stringing of the lights and karels is practically completed. Connections must be made and lines tested.

FINDING JOBS FOR WORKERS IS USES GOAL

With its wartime problem of finding workers for jobs reversed to that of finding jobs for workers, the United States Employment Service is vitally concerned with keeping unemployment to a minimum. E. A. Crouse, manager of the local USES office, said today.

Appealing to local employers to list their job openings, Mr. Crouse pointed out that the USES is ready to turn the full force of its wartime organization, its special services, and employment experience to bear on problems of employers as well as those of workers, in the period of readjustment to a peacetime world.

Pool of Workers

"Job seekers who have registered their qualifications with us constitute a reservoir of available workers with which to promptly fill employer orders. When we take the application of a worker we record complete data determining all the jobs he is qualified to fill, and the job for which he is best qualified. This application is checked against the employer's requirements for a particular job to insure that the workers we refer will meet employer specifications," Mr. Crouse said.

"Our Employment Service office," Mr. Crouse said, "is here to serve all employers and workers of Adams county. We urge the fullest possible utilization of our facilities on the part of local employers in order that we may be of maximum assistance to this community in achieving full employment."

4 ENROLL IN VFW AUXILIARY

Four new candidates were admitted to membership and four others initiated at the semi-monthly meeting of the auxiliary of Gettysburg Post No. 15, Veterans of Foreign Wars Monday evening at the IOOF lodge rooms. The following were initiated: Mrs. Irene Portney, Mrs. Nellie Hess, Mrs. Evelyn Fair and Miss Lindora Roddy.

The charter was presented to the auxiliary by Clyde D. Berger, quartermaster of Gettysburg Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Willard Weikert, deputy chief of staff, department of Pennsylvania, and aide de camp to the national commander, gave a brief talk on "the veteran, his experiences outside continental United States, the aims and purposes of the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization, the preservation of freedom and equality for all people."

Sgt. Raymond F. Strohm gave a brief talk on the charter and the honor of being a charter member. Husbands of auxiliary members were among those attending the meeting.

Ends 27 Months In U. S. Coast Guard

John E. Snyder, who served 27 months in the U. S. Coast Guard, returned to his home in New Chester after receiving his honorable discharge at the Brooklyn Separation Center, Brooklyn, N. Y., last Friday.

He was inducted at Harrisburg September 1, 1943, and received his boot training at Curtis Bay Training Station, Baltimore. Then he was assigned to the U. S. Quarantine Station, NYC. He served as sanitation inspector with the Ships' Sanitation Squad which covers metropolitan New York and New Jersey.

Local Soldier On Okinawa In Typhoon

Sgt. Arthur Brennan, recently discharged from the army, has been visiting his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Brennan, Gettysburg R. 1. He was wounded while serving in Germany and received the Purple Heart and Good Conduct medals.

Mrs. Brennan recently received a letter from another son, Cpl. John F. Brennan, serving in the armed forces. He said he was moved from Okinawa to Korea but was on Okinawa during the typhoon. The Brennans have a daughter serving in the Women's Army Corps in Texas.

Yamashita Denies Blame In Atrocities On War Prisoners

Manila, Nov. 28 (AP)—Bluff, bullet-headed Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita described himself today as a subordinate commander having somewhat of a bystander role in the defense of the Philippines and hence not accountable for the long list of Japanese atrocities detailed by the prosecution in his war crimes trial.

Testifying in his own defense, Yamashita declared he always was under orders to Field Marshal Count Hsaiichi Terauchi, supreme Japanese commander for the south-west Pacific, and never had control of the air force, marine transportation corps, naval men and 30,000 other Japanese troops in the Philippines.

Asked whether he ordered or knew of atrocities, Yamashita gestured with his large, muscular hands and replied through his interpreter, "no, absolutely not."

Further, Yamashita insisted, he had determined that Manila was indefensible and had ordered his troops out last December. Yamashita contended it was Japanese navy troops that remained there, although he didn't know of it at the time, and that he himself never at any time even had his headquarters in the city.

While the general was testifying, the Philippine supreme court denied his counsel's contention that the military tribunal was illegal and that Philippine civil courts should take jurisdiction.

Five Countians Are Discharged

The list of Pennsylvania soldiers discharged from the service through the separation center at Indiantown Gap Tuesday shows the names of five Adams countians. They are: S.Sgt. Harold R. Delp, Gardner R. 2; T/4 Fred H. Taylor, Gettysburg R. 4; Sgt. Lloyd S. Hainbaker, Gettysburg R. 1; T/5 John R. Witherow, Gettysburg R. 1 and T/4 Charles R. Fridinger, 202 West High street.

SAILOR ROBBED

E. M. Kunkle, East Berlin, a sailor, told York city police he was robbed of his wallet containing $135 while walking along North George street, near Philadelphia street, late last night. The wallet also contained personal cards and his leave papers, he stated.

Grew Admits Secret Codes Were Ruined Before Attack

By J. W. DAVIS
Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—Former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew testified today that some codes used by the American embassy in Tokyo were destroyed before war broke out December 7, 1941.

And some were not destroyed until after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on that date, he told the Senate-House committee investigating the disaster. The inquiry also brought these developments today.

(1) Moves within the committee to hear General George C. Marshall before the former chief of staff leaves for China as President Truman's special envoy.

(2) A brief flurry over a suggestion by Senator Brewster, (R-Maine), that committee counsel be permitted to go through Grew's personal diary in search of items that perhaps should be studied.

Grew told of the destruction of the codes after Senator Ferguson, (R-Mich.), asked him:

"Do you remember when you got word to destroy codes in the embassy at Tokyo?"

To hear Marshall

"We destroyed some of our codes a few days before Pearl Harbor," Grew replied. "We kept certain others until the last moment; we destroyed them after we had learned the war had begun."

Several members said they wanted to hear Gen. Marshall before his departure.

Chairman Barkley, (D-Ky.), told reporters he thought "the committee would expect to hear him before he leaves." Senator George, (D-Ga.), assumed Marshall would be leaving soon and thought it was important to call the former army chief of staff "right away."

Rep. Gearhart, (R-Calif.), commented that he would be "inclined to insist upon hearing him before he leaves."

An army board which investigated the surprise Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, took special note of the way a final warning message from Marshall to General Walter C. Short, army commander, in Hawaii, was handled.

The board said that while Marshall telephoned an alert to General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, he sent a similar message to Short by commercial cables. It was not delivered until three hours after the attack.

Former Secretary of State Hull was excused from testifying today because of cold, rainy weather. As the hearing resumed, Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokyo, returned to the witness chair.

LOCAL COUPLE MARKS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

This is the golden wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Trostle, 783 Baltimore street, and the couple has been receiving a shower of greetings, callers and gifts since Sunday when they were guests of honor at an anniversary dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Rice and Miss Ruth Scott, next door.

Mr. Trostle, who was superintendent of the Evergreen cemetery from 1895 until 1920, is in good health as is his wife, the former Mamie M. Pfeffer. Mr. Trostle is 83 and his wife, 80.

Mr. and Mrs. Trostle were married November 26, 1895, at the Evergreen cemetery lodge, then the home of the bride. She was a daughter of the late William and Susan Pfeffer and her father was Evergreen superintendent at that time.

The ceremony 50 years ago was performed by the late Rev. W. D. E. Scott, then of Loysville, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Trostle. He was assisted by the late Rev. A. R. Stock, then pastor of St. James Lutheran church.

After Mr. Pfeffer's death, Mr. Trostle was elected to the superintendency. He and Mrs. Trostle have resided at their present address since leaving the cemetery lodge in December, 1920. For some years after leaving the cemetery position, Mr. Trostle returned to his former trade of carpentry.

Those present at the anniversary dinner given on Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Trostle by their nieces and nephews were: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh P. Scott, South Ardmore; Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Rice, Baltimore street; Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Scott and daughter, Adele, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gankel, Lansdowne; Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Scott, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Ruth Scott, Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Connor, East Lansdowne; Mr. and Mrs. William L. Collins and son, Tommy, Gettysburg R. 1; Mr. and Mrs. William Myers, Philadelphia; Mrs. Effa Chapman and J. L. Wisler, both of Gettysburg.

Dwelling Damaged By Sunday Blaze

Prompt action by the Biglerville fire company prevented the destruction by fire of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Blair, Quaker Valley, early Sunday morning.

Embers from a fireplace were believed to have set fire to the flooring and rafters under a first floor room. Mrs. Blair was awakened at 4 a. m. by smoke and aroused her husband and daughter. Most of the damage from fire was confined to the basement but smoke and water damaged furniture and clothing. Mr. Blair said he could make no estimate of the loss.

Miss Mary Eberhart Joins Charity Order

Miss Mary Eberhart, daughter of George F. Eberhart, Hotel Eberhart, on Tuesday entered the order of the Sisters of Charity, whose Mother House is at St. Joseph's college, Emmitsburg.

Miss Eberhart is expected to spend several months of her novitiate in Washington after which she will be returned to Emmitsburg. She is a graduate of St. Joseph's college.

RECOVERS FUR COAT

A fur coat belonging to Mrs. LeRoy Winebrenner, 449 Baltimore street, taken by mistake from the rooms of the Albert J. Lentz post, American Legion, following an auxiliary meeting Monday night, was returned to Mrs. Winebrenner today.

Weather Forecast

Rain tonight probably ending Thursday morning and followed by occasional snow flurries in the mountains; somewhat colder Thursday.

Need $248,459

Less than a quarter of a million dollars in bond purchases will put Adams county "over the top" in the Victory Loan campaign, figures made public by the county War Finance Committee today revealed.

Total sales through the close of business Tuesday were $641,541 against a quota of $899,000 leaving an unsold balance of $248,459.

Of the total $145,462.50 represent sales of E bonds the quota for which is $350,000. The unsold portion of this quota is $204,537.50.

Finance Committee members today expressed the wish that Adams county might be the first county in the state to report attainment of "a quota." As yet no county in the state has reached its quota. A number are nearing the mark and their announcements are expected momentarily.

SHEELY URGES COORDINATION IN CLUB'S WORK

Better coordination of the projects undertaken by service clubs throughout the county was suggested as the only possible way of improving upon the "beautiful job" being performed by the service organizations in the various communities.

That suggestion was made by Judge W. C. Sheely as he presided as toastmaster at the Friendship dinner held by the Soroptimist club of Gettysburg at the Hotel Gettysburg Tuesday night in observance of the club's seventh birthday anniversary. More than 100 attended including members of the local Lions and Rotary clubs, Chamber of Commerce, Business and Professional Women's club, the Upper Adams Lions club and other invited guests.

The program was devoted to a review of the service work being done by the various organizations, presented by the president or other representative in attendance.

Hear Club Reports

Mrs. Ellen Tipton Buehler, president of the Soroptimists, presided during the early part of the evening and then presented Judge Sheely who has attended each of the annual birthday celebrations of the club.

The judge called upon the club representatives for reports on their organizations' programs. First to report was Henry W. Garvin, president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce. He said that in addition to the Chamber undertakings that are familiar to the town, its office conducts an information service on Gettysburg and the battlefield for people in all parts of the nation.

President James S. Cairns said the Rotary club is undertaking the purchase of a motion picture projector to meet a community need and listed community organizations his club helps to support. Vice President Milton R. Remmel of the Lions club told of that group's support of community organizations, their work among the blind and persons needing glasses. He made special mention of a boy the Lions have sent to a school for the blind and in whose support there various local groups have shared.

Aided Drives

COURT MARTIAL FOR U.S. SKIPPER

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—A public court martial will try Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3d, beginning Monday on undisclosed charges concerning the loss of his ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, and 880 men on July 30.

McVay, 47-year-old native of Ephrata, Pa., now lives in Washington. He had commanded the Indianapolis since November 18, 1944.

The court will convene at the navy yard here. Details of the charges will be withheld until they are read to McVay, a Navy Department announcement late yesterday said.

The Indianapolis sailed from San Francisco July 16 with a cargo of atomic bomb material for Guam. She made delivery and was returning to the United States when she went down. A navy communiqué attributed the loss to "enemy action." A later recapitulation of naval losses disclosed that a submarine sank the ship off Leyte in the Philippines.

Casualties among the 1,196 on board were 100 per cent—875 missing, five known dead, 316 wounded.

JOHN H. ECKERT, EX-POSTMASTER DIES TUESDAY

John H. Eckert, 71, prominent Mason, former Gettysburg postmaster and one of the pioneer rural mail carriers out of the Gettysburg office, died Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at his home east of town along the Lincoln highway. A cerebral hemorrhage caused death.

On November 19 Mr. Eckert complained of feeling ill and was stricken the following Saturday. He had been confined to bed since that time and was unconscious since Sunday.

Mr. Eckert was born and lived all his life in the house in which he died. He was a son of the late David and Elizabeth (Toot) Eckert. His wife, the former Lilla Schriver, died May 1, 1931.

Carried Mail 27 Years

As a young man Mr. Eckert practiced farming. On May 1, 1900, he began his duties as one of the pioneer rural mail carriers out of the local office as rural delivery was being initiated here. He continued as a rural carrier until May 1, 1927.

On March 21 of the next year he took his oath as postmaster of Gettysburg and served in that capacity until July 4, 1933. He had lived retired since that time.

For two and a half years during the war Mr. Eckert served as a member of the New Oxford Ration board serving eastern Adams county. He was a member of the gasoline panel.

Services on Friday

A member of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church here, Mr. Eckert was a former past master of Good Samaritan lodge No. 336 of Gettysburg of the Free and Accepted Order of Masons; a past high priest of the Good Samaritan chapter No. 266, and a past commander of Gettysburg Commandery No. 79 of the Knights Templar. He also was a member of the Gettysburg lodge of the Odd Fellows.

Surviving are a son, William E. Eckert, at home, and a niece, Mrs. A. B. Beam, Elizabethtown.

LABOR RULERS ARE ON TRIAL IN ENGLAND

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP World Traveler)

London, Nov. 28—England's new Socialist government naturally is being viewed in varying lights, but one finds the opinion widely expressed even among Conservatives that the big labor majority in the House of Commons is an extremely bright and active body of men and women.

Indeed, I heard it characterized by a Conservative parliamentary expert of great experience as the best-informed House ever elected. Be that as it may, it certainly is keen and active, as your columnist team found upon attending yesterday's session.

I asked Mrs. Mac what her outstanding impression was and she laughingly replied that she was overwhelmed with the Scotch accent. Well, it must be admitted that it was pretty thick, for there are a lot of Scots in the House and we struck a period of questions about Scottish affairs. The queries and answers had a burr that you could cut with a knife. Personally I haven't heard so much undiluted Scotch since the days when Grandma used to sing to us youngsters in Gaelic, and Grandpa would gather the family about him on their knees and pray in the Highland tongue for a solid hour while he instructed the Lord on the affairs of Good Presbyterians.

In any event, the Socialists (or Laborites, if you wish—they themselves use both designations) are on trial in a big way before not only their Conservative opponents but the entire country. Here it is important to note that the Socialists received a very large vote (especially middle-class) from other political parties, including the Conservatives.

Hard Job Ahead

It is significant that the elections for individual vacancies in Commons (they call them by-elections) have continued to return Laborites. The same has been true of many municipal elections. This means that the result of the general election wasn't a matter of snap judgement, but that the country is determined to find out whether the Labor party program can bring better days to England.

The task which the Socialists have before them is one which would tax the abilities of any parliament. England today is facing the greatest peace-time problems she has entered in modern history. Indeed, the vast task of rehabilitation which lies ahead may prove to be even greater than that presented by the war.

IRANIANS WILL DEFEND CAPITAL

Teheran, Nov. 28 (AP)—Iranian government forces were under order today to defend the capital at all costs against an insurgent military force officially reported marching toward the city from the north.

The government announced officially last night that forces of insurgents in Azerbaijan province were marching southward along the main rail line toward the capital.

Observers here believed it was questionable whether the Azerbaijan forces would continue to march on Teheran itself, in view of the presence of armed Iranian troops and tanks at Sharifabad, four miles east of Kazvin. But the government announced that one insurgent column had occupied the small rail town of Takistan, nine miles southwest of Kazvin and 85 miles northwest of Teheran.

The government said the vanguard of this force was driving on Kazvin and was expected to reach it by nightfall.

Confirmation was given by the government to earlier reports that another insurgent column had occupied all of Zenjan, a rail station 170 miles northwest of the capital. Zenjan is the capital of Kamsch province, where the government has reported insurgents operating with weapons distributed by "unknown people."

The government said Astara, Caspian sea port 230 miles northwest of Teheran on the Iranian-Soviet border, also was occupied by the insurgents.

The Azerbaijan have announced a demand for autonomy within the Iranian state.

Couple Married In McSherrystown

The marriage of Miss Doris Marie Noel, Hanover R. 1, and Peter James Hockensmith, also of Hanover R. 1, son of Basil Hockensmith, was solemnized Tuesday at McSherrystown by the Rev. Cletus H. Wapman, according to a return filed at the court house today.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Nadine Worley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Worley, and Frederick Andrew Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Smith, took place at McSherrystown November 22, the Rev. Wapman performing the ceremony, a return filed today shows.

West Coast Atomic Plant Is Proposed

Los Angeles, Nov. 28 (AP)—A million kilowatt atomic energy plant—which would help scientists turn to peaceful use the fearsome power unleashed over Japan—is envisioned by Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, whose genius aided creation of the atomic bomb.

The California Institute of Technology physicist who headed the government's laboratory at Los Alamos, New Mexico, outlined his plan yesterday in an address before scientists and students at the University of California at Los Angeles.

He made it clear that he has not yet put the suggestion before government officials, but said the plant could be made at least partially self-supporting by generating electricity.

"I hope the University of California, Caltech and others in the area can find the ways and means to get started on a million kilowatt atomic reactor," he declared. "Such an apparatus could be connected to a converter to generate electricity. A plant of this type might not pay for itself in 10 years, but many factors are changing and 30 years from now nuclear power may be common."

BAND AUXILIARY MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Fairfield band auxiliary this evening at 8 o'clock in the Community hall. A band concert will precede the meeting.

BRITISH GIVE ULTIMATUM TO JAVA GOVERNOR

By VERN HAUGLAND

Batavia, Java, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Indonesian governor of Western Java asked the British command today to halt military action at Bandoeng, and was told that Nationalist forces must evacuate the residential area north of the east-west railway line by noon tomorrow.

In the midst of a tense situation in the summer capital, the Japanese governor approached British headquarters in Bandoeng under a white flag, an official British statement said.

Earlier, strong Allied patrols had been ordered out in Bandoeng, about 75 miles southeast of Batavia, to disperse Indonesians who were gathering in the city, in one area of which some 60,000 former civilian internees of the Japanese were crowded.

Must Clear Area

A British brigade commander told the Japanese governor that if the area north of the rail line was not evacuated by the fixed deadline, any Indonesians found there after noon tomorrow would be liable to be shot by British patrols. No civilians may approach within 200 yards of any British or Japanese post.

The governor replied, the British said, that he was unable to "assent or make proposals."

Fighting in Ambarawa in Central Java has been reported intensifying, particularly in the area near the civilian internment center there, and off Samarang, guns of a British destroyer yesterday shelled the town of Oenganan.

said. "We will need sacrificial service and leadership," he added.

"No one or few can succeed," he continued. "We invite all of our citizens to become members of the association who are not or have not been invited to join. . . . We shall need their help and membership fees to insure adequate service on a county-wide basis. . . . Let us make our county library the best of its kind in the state, a service of citizens and books, especially suited to our county needs. Let us build for a growing, permanent and consecrated service to all people, service with and through books, so that better men and women may inhabit this part of the earth in the years ahead."

Miss Kathryn Oiler, librarian, reported progress of work at the library headquarters, 135 Carlisle street, and extended an invitation to members of the association to visit the library.

"We are proud of what has been accomplished," she said. "We have received more than 3,000 usable books, and have more than 1,000 ready on the shelves, in addition to our collection of magazines and pamphlets."

Asks For Magazines

She said the library was interested in obtaining more magazines, and asked that persons send them to the library as soon as they finish reading them. The work of individuals, school children and professional and business women was praised by Miss Oiler. She said the library is hoping to provide service by the first of the year, and suggested the first Saturday in January as an appropriate opening date.

The library still has some needs, she said, including a rug and drapes, and more books. "We can never have too many," Miss Oiler declared.

The report of the nominating committee was submitted by Dr. Robert A. Bream, chairman, who praised the work of President Benson during the past year. Mrs. Lewars presented the recommendations of the committee on constitution and by-laws.

SUNBURY SPAN OPENS WAY FOR OTHER BRIDGES

Harrisburg, Nov. 28 (AP)—Prospects for state acquisition of Pennsylvania's remaining privately-owned toll bridges brightened considerably today with an agreement to buy the Sunbury span for $650,000.

"This will be a start," said John U. Shroyer, highways secretary, who has been conducting negotiations for more than a year to acquire the existing 10 spans.

The 1945 Legislature appropriated $7,000,000 from the motor fund for the bridge purchase program and authorized Shroyer to buy any or all of the toll spans, or to launch condemnation proceedings if necessary.

Shroyer withheld comment on immediate prospects for success in other talks with owners. The state went up $150,000 from its original offer for the Sunbury bridge while the bridge company came down $250,000 from its first asking price of $1,000,000 in reaching the agreement.

Price Differences

On the other bridges, Shroyer said the state's original offers and the asking prices were:

Market street bridge, Harrisburg, state, $2,750,000, owners, $3,129,000; difference, $378,000.

Walnut street bridge, Harrisburg, state, $250,000, owners, $1,700,000; difference, $1,450,000.

Clark's ferry, north of Harrisburg, state, $500,000, owners, $675,000; difference, $175,000.

Eighth street, Allentown, state, $200,000, owners, more than $600,000.

Minist trail and New street bridges, Bethlehem, state, $50,000 each; owners, more than $300,000 each.

Point Marion, state $250,000, owners, more than $300,000.

Of the other two bridges, Shroyer said the Commonwealth and the owners of the Ellwood City-Koppel bridge were "far in disagreement," while the state has never made a formal offer for the Charleroi-Moerens bridge although there have been conferences with representatives of the owners.

Fewer Forest Fires Reported This Fall

Harrisburg, Nov. 28 (AP)—Fewer fires, and less forest land destroyed by flames, have made the fall of 1945 "very good" in the eyes of the state Department of Forests and Waters.

George H. Wirt, chief of the Bureau of Protection, estimated today that less than 200 fires will have destroyed 1,500 acres of woodland from June 1 to the end of November.

That compares with 510 fires which charred 13,318 acres last fall, he said.

Deer hunters, who will be in the woods from December 1 to 15, probably will not cause much trouble, Wirt predicted, because snow and frost have dampened the woods and fallen leaves.

"When you consider that we have 15,000,000 acres of forest land, 3,000 miles of railroads running through them, 500,000 hunters and 250,000 fishermen, 190,000 farmers — and most of them are brush-burners, and a couple of million motorists, it's a wonder we don't have 10 times as many fires as we do," Wirt asserted.

400 Gals. Mustard For Football Fans

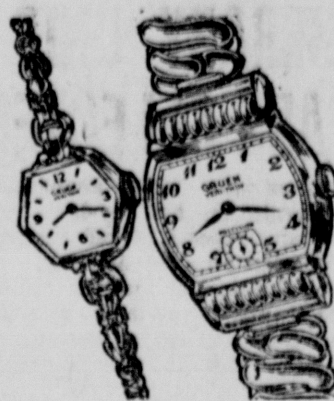

Philadelphia, Nov. 28 (AP)—Approximately 80,000 hotdogs and 120,000 six-ounce containers of coffee will be consumed at the Army-Navy football classic at Municipal stadium here Saturday.

Caterers for the game said the expected 105,000 grid fans will also devour 400 gallons of mustard, 15,000 ham and cheese sandwiches, 50,000 bars of candy and 30,000 cups of hot chocolate.

ARMY'S TUCKER, ILL WITH FLU, IS RATED HIGH

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
West Point, N. Y., Nov. 28 (AP)—It took a slight case of influenza to show how highly Army regards Arnold Tucker, the Cadets' field general and chief passer.

Overlooked in the attention focused on the West Pointers' touchdown twins—Glenn Davis and "Doc" Blanchard—Tucker, key man of the Cadets' polished T machine, was the cause of much anxiety yesterday when he was hospitalized with the flu.

For a while when his temperature soared to 102 it looked like the 21-year-old Miami, Fla. quarterback might miss the big game with the Navy in Philadelphia Saturday. But late in the afternoon the team physician, Capt. Robert W. Bayle, reported that Tucker's temperature had gone down and that the grid war would be released from the hospital by Thursday at the latest.

Was Third Stringer
Tucker, a third stringer behind Doug Kenna and Tom Lombardo last year, has come along so fast this season that Coach Earl Blaik rates him above the graduated pair.

"The rest of the team can't operate if he doesn't operate," Blaik declared. "He is by far the best man under center we have had here. He has done a magnificent job. He passes well, he's a good runner, a good tackler and a good blocker."

With Dave sweeping the ends and Blanchard blasting through the middle, Army hasn't had to do much passing this season. However, the records show that the Cadets' air arm isn't to be sneezed at. Tucker has done most of the passing and the team's completion mark is well over .600.

Trojan Debacle Could Upset Bowl

Los Angeles, Nov. 28 (AP)—A decisive UCLA victory over the Southern California Trojans Saturday could throw the Pacific Coast Conference into a tremendous turmoil over its own Rose Bowl nominee.

While Southern California and Washington State are the only teams with a mathematical chance of finishing first in the conference race, there's a possibility—in the event of a Trojan debacle—that the league might split in its telegraphic vote Saturday night and pick an also-ran to go to the Bowl against Alabama January 1.

Precedent overwhelmingly favors the percentage leader, but, Commissioner Vic Schmidt points out, the conference is not bound by any particular rule regarding percentage. Each of the 10 member schools has the right to vote for the team it believes will "best represent the conference."

NAVY ENDS MAY THROTTLE DAVIS

By BUS HAM
Annapolis, Md., Nov. 28 (AP)—One position at which Navy figures it holds a decided advantage over Army is at end, and therein lies Navy's chances of penning up swift Glenn Davis.

Dick Duden, six feet tall, 203 pounds, 20 years old, and Leon Bramlett, six feet one, 195, and 21 years old, will shoulder the responsibility of halting Davis in Saturday's service spectacle in Philadelphia.

Nobody this season has been able to prevent Davis from sweeping wide in touchdown runs, as Army applied a one-two punch, Davis in the open and "Doc" Blanchard down the middle.

Both have been mentioned repeatedly for All-America and Navy coaches consider them the "finest air" of ends in the country.

Duden also utilizes his exceptional speed as one of the Navy's principal pass-receivers. He has caught 14, one of them for the score that put the fiddies back in the running against Penn. They went on to a 14-7 victory in the last 25 seconds.

Bramlett, in his third year on thearsity, is at his best in close, hard contact and is one of the Navy's better blockers.

Bill Dickey Plans To Quit Baseball

Memphis, Nov. 28 (AP)—Lt. William M. (Bill) Dickey expects to doff his navy blues in a couple of months but says he probably won't replace them with the familiar mask and shin guards.

At 38, the veteran catcher of the New York Yankees is planning to retire from active play.

"I haven't made any plans yet," the drawing Arkansas asserted today, "but I doubt that I'll do any more catching."

"I haven't played any baseball in two years, you know, and that's a long layoff for an old guy like me."

Dickey has just returned to the States after serving 15 months as athletic director of the naval program at Pearl Harbor. He has been assigned to the athletic department at the Naval Air Station here, pending a discharge expected around the first of the year.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Horace Hendrickson, Penn backfield coach who saw his boys pummeled by both service teams sums up the Army-Navy prospects this way: "I'm not going on record as saying the Army team is the best I've ever seen—but I've never seen better." . . . and Columbia's Lou Little puts it this way: "The best way to play Army would be to use a bulldozer on offense and an atomic bomb on defense, and I'd still be pessimistic."

SUGGESTIONS NOTED
Cpl. Charlie Callahan of the second air force proposes: "Since the Louis-Corn flight next summer will be the biggest event of the post-war sports boom, why not turn over the first two or three rows around the ringside to every living holder of the congressional medal of honor?"

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Besides getting the Lambert trophy for a year, the winner of the eastern football championship—unofficial but still army this year—will receive a nifty new plaque as a permanent memento. . . . Red Trautman, who quit bossing the American association to boss the Detroit Tigers, once played two games of "outlaw" baseball at Hartford, Conn., while enroute from Ohio State U. to an eastern stop. . . . Country Ferguson, welterweight champion of Dixie when he went into the coast guard, emerged recently with a record of 25 straight victories in service bouts. . . . Carlton Fredericks, radio nutrition expert, is preparing a special diet for the bowl-bound footballers of his Alma Mammy, Alabama. Why not feed them in the West Point mess hall for a few days?

DOTS ALL BROTHERS

Ching Johnson's son, Jimmy, is regarded as the "most improved" hockey player on the U. of Michigan squad. . . . Frank Elkins, the ski reporter, begins a series of weekly broadcasts on snow conditions tomorrow night. . . . Paul Waggoner of Greenville Parker high will coach the South Carolina squad in next week's shrine bowl grid game; Bill Brannin of Charlotte central will handle the North Carolina team. . . . Larry MacPhail, who started holding weekly press conferences ala Branch Rickey, has called them off indefinitely. . . . Imagine Larry passing up a chance to talk!

Quinn Tackles Job With Enthusiasm

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 28 (AP)—At an age when most men think of retiring, 75-year-old Bob Quinn looked forward today with lots of enthusiasm for his new job as head of baseball promotion for the Wilson Sporting Goods company.

"It's a brand new job and I'm going to cover lots of ground," said the baseball veteran who resigned last week as director of the Boston Braves farm system.

"I'm going to spend my time seeing and talking to baseball men. I won't be selling anything except a little good will. I like baseball and I like the men connected with it, so I ought to like this job."

Leafs Get McCool, Option 3 Players

(By The Associated Press)
Pittsburgh has three players to add and impetus to its drive toward the top of the American hockey league's western division as an indirect result of the signing of goalie Frank McCool by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

After McCool signed with the National league team, goalie Bas Bastien, defenseman Elwyn Morris and winger Bill Ezinicki were optioned to Pittsburgh.

The Hornets will need their best for tonight's home clash with the Hershey Bears, pace-setters in the eastern half.

In the other league contest New Haven will be at Buffalo where the Bisons have been cracking attendance marks.

CUBS ADD FARM TEAM

Chicago, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today announced addition of an 11th minor league club to their farm system, the Hutchinson, Kansas, team in the revived, Class C Western Association. Other Cub farm teams include Hagerstown, Md., in the Interstate league.

ARENDTSTVILLE HAS VET TEAM

The Arendtsville Vocational high school girls' basketball team will take the floor this season with a veteran combination. No member of last season's highly successful team has been lost through graduation. William S. Whiteley, principal of the high school, is at the helm for the third successive year as coach.

Nineteen games have been arranged with 10 of the encounters slated for the home court. The squad will open the season Friday, December 7, meeting Washington Township high school on the local floor as a preliminary to the boys' varsity tilt. Last year Coach Whiteley's sextet set down the Franklin county club by a 29-28 tally.

Varsity letter winners on the Arendtsville club include Marian Tate, Shirley Wireman, Louise Walters, Jean Garretson, Mary Alice Dillon, Mary Mickle, Elaine Taylor, Esther Dively and Jane Guise. COAST ROOKIE UPSETS STARS

By JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Nov. 28 (AP)—Rookie Bob Waterfield, the west coast's greatest contribution to professional football since Ernie Nevers, almost single-handedly has turned the National Football league upside down.

He is giving those two passing greats, Sammy Baugh of Washington and Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, a terrific run for their money and is contributing to the down fall of the league's star of stars, ageless Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers.

Official league statistics showed today that end Jim Benton of the Rams whittled Hutson's pass receiving lead to six catches and has out-gained the Packer star, 943 yards to 794. But as fine a receiver as Benton has been for seven seasons, he never could have threatened Hutson without Waterfield's needle-threading aim.

Beats Record
By grabbing 10 of Waterfield's passes as the Rams scored their title-clinching victory over Detroit Thanksgiving Day, Benton gained 303 yards, erasing Hutson's single game record and becoming the first player to outgain the Green Bay whiz since Pittsburgh's Don Looney did it in 1940.

Luckman matched Baugh pass for pass to hold first place in the league Sunday, running his total of completions from 96 to 109. Baugh also has 109 but his total yardage, 1,322, is less than both Luckman, with 1,591, and Waterfield with 1,449.

Waterfield also is first in pass interceptions with six for 92 yards; third in punting with a 40.7 yard average on 39 kicks; and fourth in scoring with 56 points, mainly on 29 conversions on 31 point tries.

Still Leads Scoring
Other departmental leaders: Scoring—Hutson, 94 points on 10 touchdowns and 31 conversions; pass receiving—Hutson, 43 for 794 yards; ground-gaining—Steve van Buren, Philadelphia, 636 yards on 102 attempts; punting—Roy McKay, Green Bay, 41-yard average on 41 tries; punt returns—Dave Ryan, Detroit, 220 yards on 15 returns; kick-off returns—Steve Bagarus, Washington, 325 yards on 12 returns; field goals—Ken Strong, New York, six in 11 attempts.

Yale And Harvard To Renew Saturday

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 28 (AP)—The Yale-Harvard football game, no longer the annual top gridiron battle of the nation but still a lively attraction, returns to the American sports scene Saturday after a three-year lapse.

There was a time when it was almost impossible to obtain a ticket for the contest unless you were an alumnus, or a friend of an alumnus. Those days are gone, but Yale still expects a crowd of 50,000 for the 62nd renewal of the rivalry between these most ivy-covered of ivy-covered teams. If the expectations are fulfilled, it will be the biggest throng in the Yale bowl (capacity 72,000) since the Army game of 1941.

That would be quite a turnout for a game that wasn't even scheduled when the season started.

ADMIT 3 TEAMS TO GRID LOOP

Three new high schools were admitted to the Lower Susquehanna Football conference Monday at a business session and banquet held in a Harrisburg hotel. The three, Palmyra high, Boiling Springs high and Wiconisco high, will play teams in the conference next season. With their addition, it increases the total of active teams in the circuit to 27.

Palmyra high is coached by Calvin Heller, former Steelton high school star, who is a brother of the former Pittsburgh university football star, Warren Heller.

It was announced that Middletown high will increase its conference schedule next season from three to six games, with Johnny Yovleson, former Philadelphia Eagle at the helm of the Middletown eleven, the down-river combination is expected to advance higher in the conference standings next season.

New Cumberland high was announced officially as the Class A trophy winner, Hummelstown high as the Class B trophy and the all-conference trophy winner.

VISITORS UNWELCOME
Los Angeles, Nov. 28 (AP)—You can forget—temporarily at least—all those advertisements trying to lure residents from other parts of the country to Los Angeles. On the mayor's say-so, too.

"Though I hate to say it," Mayor Fletcher Bowron opined, "I believe we must discourage people from coming to Los Angeles. Until this housing shortage crisis has been solved."

"We don't want to invite more people here—to live in trailers and converted army barracks."

VET HOSPITALS FACING DELAY; LACK OF FUNDS

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—Five Veterans Administration hospital projects currently authorized for Pennsylvania may be delayed if Congress upholds the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee Monday rejected additional funds for hospital construction this fiscal year. If upheld by Congress, the action would rule out for the time being, a proposed 1,600-bed addition to the neuro-psychiatric hospital now being constructed at Lebanon.

A Veterans Administration spokesman told a reporter it was "too soon" to determine what effect the fund denial would have on four new hospitals programmed for the state, but said design changes may be necessitated before construction could start.

They include:
An 1,828-bed neuro-psychiatric hospital at Camp Reynolds, Greenville, increased from 1,800 beds and now estimated to cost $9,169,967 instead of $6,723,840.

A 1,248-bed general, medical and surgical hospital at Pittsburgh, increased from 1,200 beds and now estimated to cost $11,431,311 instead of $8,821,072.

A 475-bed general hospital at Wilkes-Barre estimated to cost $3,703,063 and a 600-bed tuberculosis hospital at an undesignated other Eastern Pennsylvania location, estimated to cost $4,891,520.

These last two, including 250 more beds originally planned at Wilkes-Barre, had previously been estimated to cost $7,609,331, or $895,252 less than their present estimated cost.

Veterans Administration officials told the House Appropriations Committee the cost estimate increases were based on added material and labor costs and some design changes.

STRIKE VOTE IS TAKEN BY STEEL GROUP

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28 (AP)—Most of the nation's steel workers voted today on the question of whether they favor a strike to enforce demands for a $2 a day raise in wages. It was the greatest strike poll ever taken, involving tens of thousands of steel workers across the country.

The CIO-United Steel workers headquarters here estimated between 600,000 and 700,000 workers were voting, a spokesman explaining a definite figure was impossible because of fluctuating employment conditions in recent months.

The voting in this large steel center got under way early. Night shifts from the blast furnaces and open hearths cast their votes as they completed their turns. Day workers voted as they reported for duty.

Orderly Balloting
The balloting was orderly. It was also heavy at the big homestead works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. Representatives of the National labor relations board were at all polls to supervise.

The question on the ballot was: "Do you wish to permit an interruption of war production in war time as a result of this dispute?"

An NLRB official explained the wording was required by the war labor disputes act and there was no authority to change it.

Regardless of the outcome of the balloting the union emphasized that a strike will not necessarily result. Workers were told a walkout is

Today's Talk
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS GRASPERS

We seem to be born with the tendency to grasp things. The child wants everything its tiny fingers can grasp. The instinct to want more and more, therefore, comes naturally, but this is unfortunate, for too many want what they do not need and which—in many cases—they have no right to want.

All you have to do is to look over the map of the world and note what the graspers have done to it. There would be no great wars were it not for the fact that there are nations that organize specifically to grasp something that is owned by someone else.

Balboa, the Spanish explorer, when he reached the Pacific Ocean, was so impressed with his own importance and the immensity of the ocean that he immediately proclaimed, with his naked sword, that all the lands this ocean touched thenceforth should belong to Spain!

A study of history is in great part a study of the graspers of the earth! It was Alexander who once exclaimed that he was bored because there was nothing more for him to conquer, which was but a way of saying that he couldn't imagine any more of the earth that he could grasp.

Behind about all of our social ills is this thing of greed and grasp. If the great business leaders only knew it, they could well afford to be generous with those who help them to their great heights of success and wealth. Eager to grasp all that they can, often they lose all!

The new brave world that we hear people talk about, will never be realized until this grasping spirit has been eliminated. The significance of the word Together must be realized, for it means cooperation for the good and happiness of all.

This is a very rich world, in which we live, and there is room for all, and food for all. But the graspers have got to be cleaned out and a just division of the world's natural products made to benefit the humblest and poorest.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Far-Off Good."

Pennsylvania Coal Production Is Off

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 28 (AP)—Bituminous coal production in Pennsylvania was off 16 million tons and anthracite seven million in the first 10 months of this year against the corresponding period of 1944, the state department of mines reported today.

Production of bituminous to November 1 totaled 106,589,000 tons as compared with 122,592,000 to November 1, 1944 and of anthracite, 45,599,000 tons against 52,910,000 tons last year.

Joseph J. Walsh, deputy mines secretary, attributed the lowered production to work stoppages in both hard and soft coal fields since January 1.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Golden Jubilee: The Golden Jubilee of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Trinity Reformed church was celebrated Sunday morning with special services. Rev. Paul R. Pontius, pastor of the church, spoke.

Rush for Licenses: Thanksgiving brought a rush of weddings to Hagerstown. Among those who secured licenses were Charles M. Altemose and Miss Jennie F. Bolen, both of Biglerville.

Town Boy Weds in Philadelphia: Maurice C. Stallsmith, East Middle street, was married to Miss Edith A. Kellock, of Camden, New Jersey, Thursday in St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church, Philadelphia, by the rector, Rev. J. J. Joyce Moore.

The bridegroom is employed by the American Drug and Chemical company here. The newlyweds will make their home in Gettysburg.

Shaffer-Reagle.—News has just leaked out of the marriage of Clarence Shaffer and Miss Mary Reagle, both of near Hagerstown. The ceremony was performed in the Lutheran parsonage at Biglerville, November 7, by Rev. S. F. Tholan.

Church First to be Thankful For: Thanksgiving Day was appropriately celebrated here with union services in the Christ Lutheran church, when Rev. Harry Daniels preached the sermon.

Raymond Named Captain: Herbert Raymond, stalwart left guard of the high school football team, was elected captain of the 1921 eleven at an election held Monday morning. He succeeds George Hunter, captain of this year's team.

Sprained Hand: Miss Ruth Routson, of Center Mills, suffered a severely sprained hand while boarding the train at Guernsey. She came to a local physician for treatment.

Country Has Big Milk Overstock: Chicago, Nov. 24—There is a big surplus of milk in the country and milk prices generally should be lower than they are, J. W. Coverdale, secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said here in explanation of the federation's call for a national conference of milk producers. The conference, he said, aims to work out some better method of marketing milk and will consider the possibilities of co-operation.

"There is so much milk without a demand for it that I think milk could be sold for less and still pay out."

Wheat Drops to $1.50: Wheat reached a new low price here when the wheat market sagged from $1.65 to $1.50, marking a decline of one hundred per cent since 1918.

Sweet juicy Florida oranges, 20c per dozen—N. L. Minter.

First Scoreless Football Tie: On a rain soaked field that made good football playing exceedingly difficult, Gettysburg college and Franklin and Marshall battled to a 0-0 tie at Lancaster for the first time in their history, Thursday afternoon. Approximately thirty five hundred people who turned out despite the threatening clouds and occasional gusts of rain were disappointed by seeing a poorly played contest replete with fumbles, times out and arguments between players and referee.

Captain Emanuel, Jackey Kyle, Dulebohn, Lerew, Gingerich, Derr, Gilliland and "Pats" Fuhrman played well for Gettysburg.

Marriage License: Earl J. Stair, Mount Joy township, and Pauline C. Sell, Union township, were granted a marriage license Saturday morning by J. R. Hartman, clerk of the courts.

Knox to Ask for Separate Peace: (By Associated Press), Washington, Nov. 24—Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania said today that he plans to re-introduce at the approaching session of congress his resolution to declare a state of peace with Germany. His plan, the former secretary of state said, would be followed despite the veto of President Wilson.

Senator Knox indicated that he did not expect the passage of the resolution before the special session of Congress next spring after president-elect Harding is inaugurated.

Cleared Large Sum: One hundred and seventy-five dollars were cleared by the dance held in Xavier Hall Tuesday evening by the Ladies' Council of the Beneficial League for the benefit of St. Francis Xavier church.

Personal: Mrs. Levi Diehl and daughter, Madeline, Hanover street, have gone to Philadelphia to spend a week with Dr. Rufus Weaver.

Miss Anna Dillon has returned to St. Agnes' hospital, Baltimore, where she is in training for a nurse, after spending a week at the home of F. T. Wasson and family, South Washington street.

Miss Mary Diehl, of Harrisburg, is visiting at her home on North Stratton street.

News Of Interest To Upper Communities Of County

PRUNING GETS EARLY START IN AREA THIS YEAR

With the shortage of labor continuing in the Adams county orchard belt and with an early finish to the short 1944 apple crop, many orchardists already have begun winter pruning operations.

While agreeing with the growers that advantages are to be gained by making use of the extra time for pruning, County Agent M. T. Hartman issued a warning of the danger of too early pruning of the less hardy fruits.

"Fall pruning can involve some hazards from winter injury," he stated. "Trees pruned in the early fall may not attain their normal degree of hardiness. By confining early work to the hardier trees, fruitmen reduce the probability of loss from winter killing."

Importance This Year
"Apple and pear trees are the hardest of the fruits with plums and sour cherries next in order. Because peach and sweet cherries are the most tender, their pruning should be delayed when possible until after February 15," he advised.

The county agent stressed the importance of doing a good pruning job this winter as he pointed out that labor-short orchardists have been forced during the war winters to cut down pruning operations. The reduction of new growth during the past season in some peach orchards in the county was due in large part to insufficient pruning last winter, he asserted. "The fact that an inadequate pruning job was done in many orchards last winter and the winter before increases the importance of the work at hand," he emphasized.

The county agent is of the opinion too that the lack of good pruning helps fruit insects and diseases by making it more difficult to get complete spray coverage in bushy trees that have not been kept open and clean with pruning hooks.

OPA Price Controls To Stay On Seeds

Price controls over legume seeds, especially alfalfa, red clover and alsike clover seeds will not be removed until the supply is such that immediate demands will not cause inflationary increases in price, OPA emphatically states.

This will be news to those farmer-consumers who have heard recent false rumors that OPA plans to remove such controls on April 1. The false rumor came from a report which misquoted a statement of Chester Bowles, OPA Administrator.

Claire F. and Marie R. Ditzler, York Springs, sold to Esther B. Helsey, Huntingdon township, a lot in York Springs.

Tuberculin Retest Of Cattle Next Year

The first tuberculin re-test of cattle herds in Adams county in six years will be made by the state Bureau of Animal Industry next year, probably in the spring, County Agent M. T. Hartman has been notified from Harrisburg.

In 1940 Adams county's record as an accredited county was kept clear by a re-test that removed all reactors—an exceedingly small percentage of the herds tested—and kept contaminated animals out of the county.

In the 1940 re-test, a total of 17,781 cattle were checked. A tri-ennial re-test was due again in 1943 but because of the county's good record in 1940, the difficulty of providing transportation for the veterinarians, the shortage of help both in the field and in the Bureau at Harrisburg the scheduled re-test was omitted until the end of the following three-year period which is now coming to a close.

COUNTY AGENT TELLS HOW TO CONTROL RATS

With frost and cold weather forcing rats to move indoors, the county farm agent's office in the court house has been receiving many inquiries on rat control measures for use about barns and other farm buildings—and this is the time of year to put them into use, Agent M. T. Hartman says. Rat damage costs Pennsylvania farmers a million dollars a year and Adams county suffers a proportionate share of that loss, he said.

Red squill powder, also sold under the name, fortified red squill, is recommended for making rat baits, since it is relatively harmless to humans and domestic animals. Rat control is most satisfactory if conducted over a fairly large area simultaneously. Other poisons which can be used for rats are: barium carbonate, phosphorus and thallium sulphate, but caution must be exercised as with all deadly poisons.

Food used as baits should be attractive to the rodents and for best results should be distributed without poison several nights before the poison is added. Baits should be set in rat runways, the county agent suggests, pointing out that rats usually prefer wet baits.

Or one ounce of barium carbonate can be mixed with 5 ounces of meat. Materials should be thoroughly mixed, and about a half-tablespoon used for each bait.

Cheap grades of canned fish may be substituted for the meat. Rolled oats or corn meal also can be used instead of meat or fish, in the same proportions. It should be thoroughly mixed with enough water to make the cereal moist, but not sloppy.

The county agent cautions that after mixing rat poison, hands and all utensils used in preparation should be thoroughly washed and cleaned. When exposing baits, they should be kept out of reach of children and animals. He also announces that a supply of Circular 269 on "Rat Control" is available at his office, providing numerous suggestions and details for controlling rats throughout the farm premises.

LAWYER'S JOB UP TO COURT

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28 (AP)—Federal Judge Guy K. Bard of Philadelphia will rule late today on a petition to remove Attorney John D. Dickson of Wellsville, N. Y., from his 23-year post as receiver of the Pittsburgh Shawmut & Northern railroad, and its affiliates.

The court yesterday heard testimony from Dickson and others, including Dr. Elizabeth Hayes, former physician for the subsidiary Shawmut Mining Co., who quit her job last July because of what she called "intolerable" sanitary conditions in the mining town of Force.

Permission was granted a group of persons holding $527,000 worth of Shawmut receivers' certificates to join in the petition for Dickson's removal.

The court also received a petition from a united mine workers local representing 450 Shawmut miners, on strike since Dr. Hayes quit last July, asking that if the men return to work, their medical fees be paid to the union which will hire its own doctor.

Asked about a receiver's report filed in September, showing the company $30,000,000 in debt, Dickson said: "Our cash position is very bad. We can't even pay a lot of our bills because of the stoppage, we lost heavily."

CLEAN SLATE
Kyoto, Japan, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Chugaku News reports that American troops in the Kure-Hiroshima area are very cheerful. Members of the 41st Infantry Division "sing songs, dance and play games in barracks" it said.

A Japanese reported approached some of the soldiers and asked: "Have you ever been kicked or beaten by your superior officers?"

Things Of The Soil

The few scattered experiments conducted to date indicate that DDT will likely serve as the most effective weapon yet devised to control livestock flies. A five per cent solution, preferably made by dissolving wettable powder in water, sprayed on walls, ceilings and other surface where flies congregate causes wholesale death to the pests in one to three hours after they walk on the residue.

In combatting both livestock and house flies where the spray is applied on unpainted wood surfaces it is perhaps better to employ a water-soluble coating than one with an oil base. Oil sprays soak into the wood too quickly and thereby take at least a part of the poison with them.

It seems certain that sodium fluoride will continue to out-rank DDT as an insecticide for war on roaches. However, a 10 per cent DDT powder kills roaches when dusted freely where the pests travel. And too, this powder retains its potency longer in damp nooks than does sodium fluoride.

Fleas brought into buildings by dogs and cats are killed by a 10 per cent powder dusted where the pets sleep and in runways of rats. A five per cent DDT kerosene spray is also effective in this role.

Fair results have been obtained in using DDT to kill or repel house ants. A five per cent kerosene spray strength is recommended for this purpose, especially for coating table legs, baseboards, pantry shelves (both sides) and other surfaces over which ants commonly travel. Some species show considerable immunity to DDT effects.

Shade tree owners may find a welcome and long-awaited aid in this new insecticide, especially for combatting locust leaf miners, cankerworms, gypsy moths, sawflies, elm leaf beetles, catalpa sphinx moths, bagworms and several other defoliating pests. DDT is not injurious to deciduous and evergreen tree foliage, but of course, emulsions in which the insecticide is used may burn tender leaves unless care is exercised.

For controlling cankerworms, which reach tree foliage only by crawling up the trunks (they are wingless), the spray may be applied on the trunk, just as it is used on surfaces to combat house flies. The same principle applies to control of gypsy moths. And it is not improbable that codling moth larvae may be killed by keeping the trunks of apple trees coated with DDT spray residue at the proper time.

Tests show DDT is effective against such sucking insects as leafhoppers.

Of course, there has been insufficient time to test its effectiveness against all common vegetable pests, but to date it seems impotent against the turnip aphid, Mexican bean beetle, tobacco hornworm, tomato mite and few others.

Cucurbits—cucumbers, melons and squashes—are apparently injured by DDT applications.

Several readers have asked the practical question—Can DDT be mixed with most other insecticides and fungicides? Yes, it is entirely safe and effective when used with arsenate of lead, cryolite, nicotine sulphate, sulphur, Bordeaux mixture and most other generally used spray and dust materials.

More information will be available about DDT for fruit spraying roles by the time the regular spraying season arrives. In the meantime the editor invites all the questions readers wish to ask on this absolutely new subject.

Growing Paper-White Narcissi

Paper-white narcissi are the pale yellowish to white bulbous flowers seen during winter months in florists' windows, the bulbs partly submerged in water and supported by pebbles. They are extremely easy to grow, are hardy under ordinary living room conditions and make excellent ornaments for indoors when most flowering plants are scarce. Their fragrance as well as their beauty lends them to numerous roles among house plants.

Two facts about the culture of paper-white narcissi bulbs should be emphasized for the benefit of beginners—First, the bulbs will not grow in soil; they require water as a growing medium; second, pebbles are needed solely to support the bulbs. Size of the pebbles is also an important factor, for they must be large enough to permit the roots to wind down among them and thereby anchor the tall plants.

Paper-white narcissi bulbs require a longer period to reach bloom stage in late fall and early winter than they do in late winter. For example, they should be potted approximately 45 to 50 days before the date of blooming during early winter, while in February and March they come into flower within 25 to 28 days after potting. However, in either case growth can be retarded or hastened somewhat by lowering or raising the room temperature where they are kept during the pre-bloom stage.

Bulbs are likely to be more plentiful this year than they have been since the outbreak of the war. About six bulbs to a 6-inch shallow bowl or dish is the advised rate of potting. A round or oval glass dish may be employed.

First among preparations is the matter of obtaining clean, fairly large pebbles. Place these in the container to a depth of at least two or three inches. Set the bulbs upright and surround them with more pebbles so the surface level of the pebbles rises slightly above the shoulders of the bulbs. Here it is important to observe that the pebbles not only serve to support the bulbs upright but also to hold them down after roots begin to multiply and there is a tendency for the bulbs to be forced upward. Then fill the container with water up to the level of the pebbles, which permits the bulb tips to extend safely above the water.

Ordinarily well, spring or city water may be used, although many successful growers recommend rain water.

The bowl should be placed at once in a medium light room where the temperature remains fairly constant around 50 to 60 degrees until top growth is well started. Then both light and temperature should be increased, quite rapidly if haste is desired, slower if there is no need for rushing blooms. By the time growth is sufficient to expect the first flower buds, the container should be moved to a sunny room where the temperature ranges between 65 and 72 degrees.

Unlike other Dutch bulbs, paper-white narcissi do not require a long period of dark storage to promote root development before top growth can be forced. For this reason growers may pot a few bulbs every two or three weeks and thereby enjoy a long succession of fragrant blooms

Farm Calendar

Bees Need Winter Food—All beekeepers are urged to check the food supply in their hives to make certain each colony has 45 pounds of honey on hand for the coming winter. Colonies with less than this amount require supplemental feeding.

Concentrate On Lambs—Sheep growers will do well to place more emphasis on producing good quality lamb crops, instead of depending on wool production, suggest extension livestock specialists of the Pennsylvania State college.

Stress Quality Milk—Five essentials in production of high quality milk as outlined by extension dairy specialists of the Pennsylvania State college are: Clean habits, healthy cows, managed milking all winter. Apparently this plant is not injured by gas fumes.

The editor will be glad to answer all questions readers wish to ask on this and other timely subjects of indoor plants and their problems.

methods, sterilized utensils, and sanitary milk houses.

Potatoes With Blight—Potato crops infected by blight will rot in storage, and the infection can spread there to cause heavy loss. If blight was severe, the crop should be marketed immediately rather than chance spreading the infection in storage.

Watch Poultry Litter—Pointing out that good, dry, deep litter helps provide poultry with insulation during winter months, extension poultry specialists at the Pennsylvania State college are urging more poultrymen to try the "built-up litter" program, which also reduces disease hazards and cuts down on labor requirements.

Save Farm Records—Extension of the Inca empire.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

Chicago, Nov. 28 (P)—Two's a crowd—in bed.

That's the belief of the National Association of Bedding Manufacturers which attributes a 50 per cent increase in twin bed sales during the war to consumer education "as to the health advantages of sleeping alone."

farm management specialists at the Pennsylvania State college remind farmers that income tax estimates must be filed by January 15 and gathering records now will ease the job of filling out the required forms later.

Quito at one time was the capital of the Inca empire.

STATE AIRPORT PROGRAM GETS NEW IMPETUS

Harrisburg, Nov. 28 (AP)—Pennsylvania's airport construction program moved forward today with cash grants for work at two municipal fields and approval of sites for five privately-owned commercial fields, one private field and three seaplane bases.

The state Aeronautics Commission granted $4,000 to Towanda to remove a power line and a telephone line, and $925 to Waynesburg for plans and surveys for extension and improvement of the field. Both grants match community contributions.

The commission sanctioned sites of fields planned by John H. Welch at Phoenixville, Joseph Gloster at Fairhill, John F. Myers at Mansfield, Central Penn Aero Sales, Inc., one mile west of Lebanon, and Edward Voegelé at Titusville; seaplane bases to be established by Walter H. Nicolai, Jr., 2,000 feet south of the Delaware river bridge at Philadelphia; Robert J., and Donald J. Stewart at Leesdale, and R. D. McAllister and Sons on Erie Harbor, and G. C. Black's private field at Tyone.

Mark All Towns
Aiming at the air-marking of every Pennsylvania community of 500 or more population, the commission announced 11 have identified themselves by painting their name, latitude and longitude, directional arrow and mileage to the nearest field, on buildings with paint and designs furnished by the commission. These communities are Lancaster, Ashland, Tyone, State College, Easton, Oil City, Ridgway, Marienville, Wellsboro, New Kingston and Lock Haven.

In addition, said Floyd Chalfant, Secretary of Commerce and chairman of the commission, paint for this purpose has been shipped to Easton, Port Carbon, Milford, Kutztown, Brockway, Farrell, Monongahela, Philipsburg, Elkland, Carlisle, Mt. Union, Midland, Hanover, Pottsville, Palmyra, Bedford, Dubois, Ebensburg, Mt. Jewett and Honesdale.

Chalfant also announced appointment of Major Louis Miller of Lock Haven as engineer-inspector at $3,750 a year. Miller, a recently-discharged airport engineer in the Army Air Forces, supervised construction of the field at Casablanca and a number of other military airports in North Africa, said Chalfant. He formerly was employed in the state Highways department.

CONCILIATOR MEETING WITH UAW LEADERS

(By The Associated Press)
The government takes a hand in settling the General Motors wage dispute at a meeting with CIO Auto Workers officials in Washington today, but company representatives won't be there.

Vice President Walter P. Reuther and other top UAW-CIO officials were scheduled to confer with Edgar L. Warren, chief Labor Department conciliator, but GM President Charles E. Wilson said he couldn't leave Detroit "on account of the strike situation."

Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach yesterday reported Wilson would meet with Warren. The GM president said there was some mistake. Warren told reporters he had no definite arrangements to talk with Wilson or other company officials.

Pickets Withdraw
Last night 400 CIO pickets who for more than 15 hours had "imprisoned" 65 supervisory employees at a GM plant in Saginaw, Mich., disbanded after an appeal by the union's regional director. A dispute over paying the strikers their last week's wages caused the incident, the first in the week-old strike which has idled 225,000 employees of the big automobile manufacturer.

Across the nation some 150 labor disputes idled around half a million workers. Montgomery Ward and Company's reply was awaited to a union proposal that someone agreeable to both sides be appointed to arbitrate issues involved in a work stoppage now affecting Ward units in 10 cities.

Still in dispute was the strike's effectiveness, with the union contending 13,000 of its members were out in Chicago, Albany, N. Y.; Barre, Vt.; Denver, Kansas City, Detroit, Royal Oak and Dearborn, Mich.; Trenton, N. J., and Anderson, Ind. The company asserted a majority of its employees were working at all plants and said a firm of certified public accountants would determine the exact number.

Urges Beer Sales In Grocery Stores

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28 (AP)—Sale of beer in grocery stores was advocated by M. R. Garner, an official of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., at the closing session of the Pennsylvania Malt Beverage Distributors' association.

"Only 15 per cent of your customers drink all their beer away from home," declared Garner yesterday. "More than 50 per cent drink it at home only. Make beer more easily available for them."

He proposed a campaign to change the state law prohibiting beer sales in stores.

The association elected eight new directors: Charles Stewart, Williamsport; Peter Stubler, Oil City; H. L. Rockefeller, Sunbury; John Wege, Carnegie; Charles B. Ellermyer, Kittanning; Harry I. Neaman, Pittsburgh; James Ross, Easton, and Ruben Jeffe, Philipsburg.

Scribe Pays Fine Tribute To Daring Of AP Cameraman

By HAL BOYLE
Shanghai, Nov. 26 (AP)—For a little man, Francis Xavier Filan certainly gets around.

Frank is 41 years old, with light, boyish eyes and a big mop of brown hair that makes him look like an energetic woodpecker about to foreclose on a worm. He weighs 135 pounds and is five feet five or five feet six inches tall, depending on whether he stands on his good leg or on the one he once broke.

Frank is a photographer for The Associated Press. In the past three years he has made 16 amphibious landings in the Pacific.

You could always spot Frank on any battlefield—he was the wiry, bent little guy, shouldering ahead with 200 pounds of luggage, mostly cameras.

If the time ever comes for Frank to quit looking at life through a view-finder, he can hang up his camera with many memories.

There was that night back in 1942 when the news wires carried the story of his death in a plane crash.

Frank was flying with two other men in a small plane, taking night pictures of bomber training practice near Victorville, Calif. For the first time in more than 100 flights he had buckled on a parachute.

Thrown From Plane
"It was the only time I'd ever worn one and the only time I'd ever needed one," said Frankie.

"We were flying at 4,400 feet when the bomber behind was suddenly surged forward and clipped the tail of our plane."

Knocked unconscious, Frank came to in the air. He pulled the ripcord, fainted again and hit the ground like a sack of salt. The plane from which he had been thrown clear crashed and killed the remaining occupants.

Searchers who found the burning wreckage thought Frank was in it. His wife was informed that she was a widow.

Seven hours later Frank stumbled out of the night. Despite two broken bones in his back, he was still lugging his parachute. Asked why he hadn't dropped it where he fell, he said, "Parachutes are pretty expensive; I thought they'd want it back."

Then there was that beach on Parry island, in the Marshalls.

"I guess nobody remembers that one," said Frank, "but there never was another place like it for Jap mines."

"I was running about 30 feet behind three Marines on the beach when one of them stepped on a mine. It killed two of them, and the third dropped to his knees and kept crying over and over, 'My buddies, my buddies, they're gone.'"

Lost All Equipment
"Then the Japs started throwing hand grenades at us."

There was that other time when Frank went along with several thousand Marines bent on breaking down the Japanese closed-door policy at a place called Tarawa.

"Out boat was sunk and I lost all my equipment," he said. "We were neck-deep in water and in the line of fire from three Jap machine guns ashore. One fellow next to me was hit and kept saying, 'don't leave me! You won't leave me, will you?'"

Frank dragged him 150 yards to the beach. On the way he had to crawl through an underwater barbed-wire barrier, so that he was pretty tired when he reached the deadly shore.

"All I remember," said Frank, "was that wounded guy. He was too weak to dig himself a hole, so I had to do it for him, but the tide kept washing us out. I dug seven foxholes

OPERA OPENS WITH DISPLAY OF GEMS, FURS

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—As Mrs. Truman and Mary Margaret smiled and applauded, the Metropolitan Opera company opened its 61st season Monday night—with the most dazzling display of diamonds and ermine in years.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt wore her traditional head-band, Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh wore diamond bracelets up to her elbow, John Jacob Astor wore a white tie and an opera hat—and New York society knew that once again, all was right with the world.

The annual opening night spectacle of pelts and sparklers was dimmed during the war years, but Monday night the mighty flung aside wartime modesty and welcomed peace with a lavishness worthy of Diamond Jim Brady and Lillian Russell.

Gone were the short evening dresses or unabashed street clothes of 1941-44. In their place were resplendent opera hats, white ties, gold-headed canes, coats of chinchilla, sable, ermine, and clusters of diamonds, rubies, emeralds. A few of the masculine old guard even wore opera capes.

Trumans Arrive Early
The President's wife and daughter, Mary Margaret, were among the arch-conservatives of the glittering crowd.

Neither wore furs—just simple, tailored blue cloth coats which covered simple, distinguished evening dresses.

Three days later, with a borrowed camera, Frank took a picture of dead Japanese on Tarawa that won him the Pulitzer prize.

Then there was the case of Frank and "Flags," the psychopathic parrot, but that one will have to wait for another day.

TRUMAN NAMES GEN. MARSHALL FOR CHINA JOB

By GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—President Truman today called on his most lavishly praised military leader, General of the Army George C. Marshall to step into the world's No. 1 postwar trouble spot—China.

Amid signs of increasing American concern over the civil war in that country, Mr. Truman quickly followed Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley's spectacular resignation as ambassador yesterday by calling Marshall from his week-old retirement.

The former army chief of staff will become special envoy to China as a temporary replacement to Hurley, who caught both the President and Secretary of State Byrnes by surprise with his 1500-word statement that he was quitting.

By selecting a five-star general to succeed one with two stars, rather than choosing a civilian diplomat, Mr. Truman appeared to be emphasizing again the viewpoint that the present top job in China remains the disarming of Japanese troops.

New War In Making
Both the War and State Departments have said repeatedly in recent weeks that United States troops are

MARTIN FAVORS STRIKE AGENCY

Shamokin, Pa., Nov. 28 (AP)—An impartial governmental agency with authority to settle all labor disputes should be created immediately, in the opinion of Pennsylvania's Governor Edward Martin.

"In any law-abiding nation," the governor said in an address last night honoring congressional medal of honor winner Sgt. Freeman V. Harner, "there certainly should be a fact-finding body able to make decisions that would be fair to workers, employers, and that great third party, the general public."

In condemning the growing strike wave in the nation, Martin asserted "disputes between capital and labor cannot be solved by force any more than disputes between men or nations can be solved by force."

However American policy toward China had been under critical review before Hurley's resignation because of the danger U. S. troops might become actively involved in the fight between Chinese government and Chinese Communist armies.

Hurley, meanwhile, scheduled an on-the-record luncheon talk before members of the National Press club. He had warned in his statement yesterday that a third world war is "in the making."

Hurley sentiment was widely shared on Capitol Hill. It also was expressed by Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao-Ming, who said in a statement that China was "very fortunate" in getting Marshall as a special envoy.

Lloyd Klinefelter, president of the Upper Adams club, said his club sponsors Boy and Girl Scout work in upper county communities and aids the blind.

Mrs. Buehler reported for the Soroptimists. She said the club gathered seven tons of clothing, sent $150 to the Madame Noel fund for plastic surgery, aided the Chinese student nurse project during the war, sent tea to England, supplies to army nurses, established a fellowship fund to be used to help an outstanding local woman advance in her chosen specialty, provides Christmas for one county child, established the Helen L. Cope scholarship award and supported a long list of community organizations and undertakings.

Introduce Guests
Mrs. Buehler introduced Pvt. John Reinecker, wounded veteran of battle duty in Belgium, as a club guest. A number of other guests were introduced during the evening including David Forney, just home from overseas duty; Mrs. H. C. McIlhenny; Mrs. Radford Lippy; Mrs. C. H. Muselman; Miss Lena Boyer; Fred Segal; Clyde D. Berger and Mary Catherine Berger; Miss Leone Pink-boner; Harvey Raffensperger; Irving Bierer and Mrs. Florence Basehoar Schriver, former member and third president of the Soroptimists here.

Mrs. Fred Segal led group singing and Mrs. Mary Ramer Eberhart was at the piano.

Richard Codori was introduced as a new member of the Lions club.

Chapter 14
Sunday 7 p. m. to 9:05 p. m.

After his bold statement Frank refused to go farther.

"You'd be better off not knowing and when I get sufficient evidence I'll put it in the hands of the police."

He stood between them facing the fireplace, two fingers resting on his forehead as if in silent meditation.

Does he really know or has he just taken a role he can't resist, wondered Julia and was inclined toward the latter theory. How could any one get to the real, the actual feelings of these people when so much was imagination?

Dinner was more dull than anything else. Frank kept up his attitude of being a man of mystery and Virginia seemed suddenly too tired to combat it. Julia was so deep in conjecture that she made little effort toward conversation.

"How long has Hank been with Robey?" she asked, breaking into one of the small silences that caught up with them in spite of an endeavor to keep the conversation going.

"A long time," Frank told her. "Ever since Robey has had a dresser at the theatre. Really, though, my dear, you're on the wrong track here. Hank looked after himself and Robey's death is a blow to him. Since Robey has been in the big money, Hank has made plenty off him one way or another. If Hank had been the one who died—that would have been a different story."

"Well, he couldn't have killed Robey—he wasn't here," Julia paused and turned to Moore who was retreating to the kitchen. "Unless—Moore, did you do that trick of snapping off the latch when Doctor Venable sent you out last night?"

He hesitated a moment.

"I don't remember, madam."

She realized that he hadn't had time to make up his mind which answer would be better for him. She might never know for sure but there was a possibility that an outsider could have entered. The fourth Mrs. Baker might have arrived at that time.

The doorbell chimed and Moore went through to answer it. Through the top of the fireplace she caught a glimpse of Doctor Wandell as he followed the servant into the salon and went on toward the windows.

"It's Doctor Wandell, madam," Moore informed her.

"Yes, you can serve coffee in the salon, Moore." The word reminded her that now she didn't have to call the big formal room a salon. Robey wasn't here to correct her frowningly. But the tiny feeling of release rose only to strike against the low roof of fear. She could never be free until the mystery surrounding Robey's death was solved.

Frank's greeting to the doctor was perfunctory, Virginia's casual. Did Frank think Wandell was the murderer? His attitude supported the thought.

"How is Alma?" asked Julia.

"Better I think but she is still very ill."

"It's none of my business but why did you let her come here?" Virginia lighted a cigarette, threw back her head to evade the smoke, and stretched her long body in a lounge chair near the black cocktail table.

The doctor, on the L-shaped couch opposite her, did not answer at once.

Frank said at last:

"You shouldn't have inquired into professional secrets, dear Ginnie."

"She wanted to come and I don't believe it would have hurt her if it hadn't been for the shock of Robey's death. In fact I thought it would be a nice test of her progress."

"You've known her a long time?"

"Yes, Miss Jarvis, I've known her since she was fourteen."

"Oh, you knew Robey then, too?"

"Yes, after he met Alma."

Julia felt the strained atmosphere. She felt sure Virginia knew already what the doctor's terse answers would be. The girl put a cool suspicion into her tone and the doctor's voice was faintly contemptuous.

Frank was still standing and he left them and went to the piano. Soft, longing melody came to them. The statue half concealed his head except when he bent over the keys to one side or the other.

"Have you any ideas about 'who-dunnit,' Doctor?" persisted Virginia.

"Not yet. You see I didn't know any of those here very well, except Alma. Have you?"

She blew smoke from her nostrils before she answered.

"Lots. I mean I pick out one, then two. Every one is trying to act as guilty as possible which puts the star performer in a pretty pickle. If he's smart he'll act guilty, too, and that will make him practically invisible to the naked eye."

Doctor Wandell smiled.

"He is smart, all right, but not as smart as he could be. There isn't one small bit of evidence that points to any one. That is, to any one committing murder. If he or she admitted being with him when he fell to his death there would be no means of convicting him of murder. With that reasonable doubt a good lawyer could get him off scott free. It would lift a shadow from all of us if that person spoke out."

The doctor's earnest eyes were bent on Virginia.

"You give me goose flesh, Doctor. I could almost see myself a heroine if I confessed," she said smoothly.

YOUNG SLAYER IS GIVEN LIFE

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28 (AP)—Twenty-year-old Charles Anderson today faced a life sentence for the robbery-slaying of 71-year-old Charles N. Schnebach shortly after midnight last July 25 in an East Liberty school yard.

A verdict of first degree murder, with a recommendation of mercy, was returned last night by a jury which deliberated nearly six hours.

Judge G. Malcolm McDonald pronounced sentence immediately.

The commonwealth had asked the death penalty, describing Anderson a "remorseless slayer."

Schnebach was fatally slugged as he walked through the school ground.

Earle Jackson, assistant district attorney, said Anderson "made one mistake—like many other criminals have done." "He forgot his hat."

And through that hat, part of a "zoot suit" ensemble, police traced Anderson and brought him to trial.

The defendant himself told the jury of the slaying. He said he and a 14-year old girl trailed the elderly Schnebach down a street, that he threw the old man down and that the girl took a purse containing $45 from his pocket.

The trial had an oddity in procedure in that the prisoner refused to answer when asked for his plea.

The court directed that a plea of "not guilty" be entered.
